

hope after project

building memorial community service projects to help those who are grieving find hope

We are currently accepting applications for Hope After Projects to be built in Spring 2015. To create a Hope After Project in memory of your loved one, please email the following link to info@hopeafterproject.com. Please tell us who died, when they died and a little bit about how you're doing. We are always in need of volunteers! Volunteers can participate in local Hope After Projects, fundraisers, or lead Hope After Projects in their area. info@hopeafterproject.com or www.hopeafterproject.com. Additional questions? Contact Jennifer at jennifer@hopeafterproject.com. The mission of Hope After Project is to offer positive, productive grief memorials. Although we provide grief support we are not a traditional grief support group. If you need additional grief resources please email us for a list of resources in your area.

Hope After Project was founded by Jennifer White in 2013. In 2011 when Jennifer was 23 years old her life changed forever when her mother, Josie, died by suicide.

Jennifer noticed almost no resources available to her so not only did her mother die rather than the way she lived.

In an effort to connect with the generous, unselfish and kind woman her mother was Jennifer signed up to volunteer at a local elementary school that needed a fresh coat of paint. Jennifer felt connected to her mother's life and to her community. Helping others filled her with hope and she decided to give that experience to others.

Jennifer builds and facilitates every Hope After Project. Jennifer is a certified bereavement group facilitator.
